ADDITIONAL COMMENTS

Thank you for the opportunity to participate in the ACLU candidate survey process. I entered this race because I bring a unique set of qualifications and a different perspective. I have covered municipal government as a reporter in Cranston and Warwick; worked in our state's correctional system working to create a balance between criminal justice and social justice; served at a federal level with Congressman Jim Langevin, most notably during the passage of the Affordable Care Act; and worked for former Governor Gina Raimondo on various issues from education, workforce development and much more. I understand the work that must happen to move meaningful, structural, and sustainable change forward.

I believe it is important now more than ever to protect voting rights and reproductive rights, and give those who are seeking a better life in America that opportunity by opposing policies like Title 42.

Thank you for the work you do to protect the rights and freedom of Rhode Islanders, and I look forward to working with you on these important issues.
